THE CIVIL SERVICE CLUB, VALLETTA

TRANSFORMATION AWAITS YOU

It seems beautifully fitting that Timothy Grech, the great grandson of Charles Grech, whose home was famed for luxury hospitality and fine wines, is the CEO of Malta's newest and most exclusive club and now-memorable restaurant and bar, Grech's. Grech's, a joint-venture with business partner George Nisiotis and creative director Samantha Rowe-Beddo is located in a building that was once famous as a meeting place for the elite. The building was built in 1912 and was subsequently the Maltese Sports Club for the Civil Service and the Royal Malta Yacht Club. It is now an important site in the history of Malta's independence as a destination for business, leisure, art and culture in the 21st century. Grech's beautiful Empire building is located in the heart of Valletta and the club is ready for its first members. TEMPLE spoke to the club's designer Samantha Rowe-Beddo to find out what awaits its members.

BY JESSICA MARC ZEREDA

TEMPLE: Why are your clients potential members and what lifestyle environments and experiences have you designed for them at the club?

Our concept is that the club has a 50/50 split between membership and an on-site restaurant. All of our rooms have been designed to ensure maximum comfort and ease for all our members. We have to encourage other members to always visit the club when they're in the city. Our research has shown that there is not always a club in the area, so we've created a space that is both social and fun. It's a member's club and we've created a space that will showcase Valletta to our international friends and colleagues, distinguished by its exceptional service and exceptional interiors. We have used the historic architecture in Valletta to bring such a club and so each of our rooms offers private, calm and serene settings, in the perfect setting for board meetings, training days, conferences and other events. However, it's by no means all about work and to anticipate that our members will be looking for a great social space.

The club will be a lifestyle experience of events for members with cocktail receptions, happy nights, wine tasting, parties and events, but members have another experience and shared parties - if our members ask for it, we will provide it.

TEMPLE: Can you tell us about the restaurant, bars, private dining and facilities that are available?

Our bar lounge and bar is open to members and non-members alike. The all-day menu features classic dishes, plus the past, which and sandwiches as well as a signature cocktail bar. Dishes are served from 11am to 11pm and a private party.

The open-plan bar will have a bar-top open. Club members only seats and complete the entire Plus Malta and the member's lounge restaurant. It's a modern, casual and providing excellent views of the city of Valletta. The bar has well-kept guests' experience and social atmosphere as well as an international bar and a member's lounge. The world is your oyster and can be ordered from the restaurant club menu. Another space for work and play is our beautiful lobby.

We have two more areas beyond the opening hours of the club. We have a private dining room in the heart of the Long Bar in the club. The Long Bar has table tennis tables that can be

TEMPLE: What made you decide that a Private Member Club was the optimum solution for one of the sports developments?

There has been a resurgence in Valletta with a number of beautiful historic buildings, which are being restored and are being used as offices, shops and as a home for the city. We saw the potential to create a new club in the heart of the city. The club will offer a unique experience to our members and will be a member's club and we've created a space that will showcase Valletta to our international friends and colleagues, distinguished by its exceptional service and exceptional interiors. We have used the historic architecture in Valletta to bring such a club and so each of our rooms offers private, calm and serene settings, in the perfect setting for board meetings, training days, conferences and other events. However, it's by no means all about work and to anticipate that our members will be looking for a great social space.

TEMPLE: Can you tell us how the design brief evolved from one of the sports developments?

The Baroque architecture with its intricate details provided the perfect canvas to work from and to create a new club in the heart of the city. TEMPLE: The project is highly international and you have showcased a beautiful Maltese building in the heart of Valletta. How have you created this atmosphere in design and atmosphere?

We have been lucky to work with an international team of architects, interior designers, craftsmen, and artists to create a unique and exceptional atmosphere. The Maltese light and light-colored woodwork create a warm and inviting atmosphere. The Maltese light and light-colored woodwork create a warm and inviting atmosphere. Malta has an almost mythical quality to it that comes from its eerie underwater caves, stunning temples, and medieval architecture. The streets here wind around towns and villages taking you past churches, markets, and museums, and some of the oldest buildings in the world can be found on this pretty isle. The country is actually an archipelago that sits in the Mediterranean Sea and is close to both neighboring Sicily and Africa.

There are three main islands here in the form of Malta proper, Gozo and Comino, and whichever one you choose to visit you can expect to be surrounded by azure seas and clear blue skies. Whatever you are looking for, one of the islands is sure to deliver and you can pick from museums, fishing trips, and diving opportunities, or just relax and enjoy the cafes and eateries that usually serve fresh seafood plucked straight from the ocean.
